

SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS NEW DEAL GOLD DEALS

18 DESPERATE CONVICTS ARE SOUGHT TODAY

Escaped from Oklahoma Reformatory Sunday

Granite, Okla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Eighteen desperate convicts were at large in the southwest today after a wholesale break from the state reformatory in which women and children were used as shields and one guard was shot to death.

Back in the cells were 13 other convicts who had joined in the Sunday dash for liberty, while Mrs. George A. Waters—the nation's only feminine warden of a male prison—shunned praise for her heroism and sought the source of pistols smuggled to the leaders.

Hardly summoned sheriff's posse rode throughout the night over the short grass plains seeking to flush the felons from their hiding places. Highways were blockaded and farmers grimly guarded their homes against possible depredations of the freed killers and robbers.

Investigating "Abuse" The break followed an investigation into reports of cruel treatment of the inmates.

"We have been having trouble down here all week," said the warden, who yesterday exposed herself to gunfire of the prisoners. "We took every precaution but we couldn't guard against guns being smuggled in from the outside."

From two smuggled pistols, the plot expanded abruptly to its deadly completion.

The ringleaders appeared suddenly at the side of a trusty prisoner, serving as inside turnkey, poked a pistol muzzle against his ribs, and took the keys. With cold precision the malcontents rounded up all inside turnkeys and Day Sergeant Walter Ford, locking them in a cell. "Come on," they yelled.

Mob Rallied to Cry A mob of youthful prisoners rallied to the cry, rushed headlong upstairs into the visitors' room.

"There were about twenty visitors there, mostly women and children," said Leslie Long, a convict who was then talking with his wife and sister-in-law.

"We all went out toward the front tower. They herded us out there to keep the guards from shooting at them."

"After they broke, I went over and gave up."

As the cage-maddened mob rampaged down the corridors toward the double-barred front door and freedom, one of them snatched a saved off shotgun from a door-guard's wall rack.

An instant later, the same gun played its fatal charge at 60-year-old "Uncle" Peter Jones, veteran tower guard.

"I'm sure he didn't have a chance to defend himself," cried Mrs. Waters.

The escaping convicts hunched forward warily behind their helpless hostages.

Warden Braved Fire A feminine figure raced into the yard from the warden's residence just outside the walls. It was Warden Waters. Her hand fluttered up in a signal to riflemen in sentry-boxes on wall and tower.

They fired, without effect, their marksmanship impeded by the hapless captives.

A bullet moment later, from a flank came the sullen boom of Deputy Warden M. R. Gallion's automatic shotgun.

Eight boys lurched and stumbled as his slugs ripped into their flesh. None was seriously hurt. Another, terrified, halted. A tenth was taken nearby by a civilian, Vernon Tallaferra of Carter, who was present at the break and was deputized and armed by the guards.

Probes Start Unrest Three of the escaped convicts were recaptured later by possemen at Sayre.

Mrs. Waters' administration has been investigated by three different state agencies.

"It has been upset here since they started their investigations," complained the woman who took charge of the institution in 1927, a year after the death of her husband, who also held the office.

Troops many of the fugitives less than a fortnight ago, scrawled their signatures to a petition asking that Mrs. Waters be retained as head of the reformatory, and praising her administration.

FARM FUGITIVES FLEE Vandalia, Ill. Feb. 18.—(AP)—A search was under way today for three prisoners who overpowered the jail or and escaped from the Fayette county jail here yesterday.

The prisoners were Edward H. Huns, 34, Decatur; Central's Montell Payne, 19, and Elmer Miller, 24, both of Peoria. A fourth, Francis Baker, 17, was said by officers to have refused to accompany the fleeing men. All were to be a fact arraignment today on charges.

MILWAUKEE FIRE FATAL TO DEAF MUTE AND NURSE

Blaze Itself Wasn't Serious: Some of Guests Walk Out

Milwaukee, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Two persons lost their lives early today in a fire at the fashionable Hotel Astor, residential hotel and apartment house near Juneau Park.

The dead were Oscar Teveles, 66-year-old deaf mute and brother of the head of the Teveles Seed Company of Milwaukee, and Iltse Saxinger, his nurse.

The fire broke out in the basement shortly after 4 A. M. Although the flames did not spread much, smoke quickly filled the halls. Guests were summoned by telephone and by other guests who smelled the smoke and ran down the halls knocking on doors.

Many of the guests walked downstairs and to the streets themselves but some were carried out by firemen.

Five persons were taken to the emergency hospital suffering from the effects of smoke.

GEN. BUTLER'S ATTACK AIMED AT EXAMINERS

Congressmen Accused of Suppressing Evidence of Fascist Plot

Kennett Square, Pa., Feb. 17.—(AP)—The congressional committee on un-American activities is charged by General Smedley D. Butler with suppression of testimony and names in its investigation of an alleged fascist plot against the government.

In a short address broadcast from his home last night the fiery ex-Marine asserted the group, in its report to congress last week, ignored important witnesses whose names were written into the record of the inquiry.

He pointed to his testimony, in which he declared an offer had been made to him to lead a march of 50,000 veterans on Washington, and flatly stated "some of the most important portions had been suppressed in the official report to congress."

"Stopped in Tracks" He termed the investigating group the "committee that stopped dead in its tracks when it got near the top."

"It wasn't much of a report the committee made," he added, "because it wasn't much of an investigation."

These "big shots," who, he said, should have been called "if the committee wanted to get at the whole truth," were identified by Butler as:

Grayson M. P. Murphy, a New York broker.

Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt.

Alfred E. Smith, former Democratic presidential nominee.

Former Governor Elmy of Massachusetts.

Names Legion Officials General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff of the U. S. army.

Harford McNider, former Commander of the American Legion and one-time minister to Canada.

Frank N. Belgrano, National Commander of the American Legion.

Butler brought in also the names of Gerald P. Maguire, employed in Murphy's brokerage office and mentioned in connection with the purported offer made to Butler to lead the march on the national capital, and William Doyle, former Legion department commander in Massachusetts.

He attacked the committee for taking testimony and conducting the investigation at secret sessions.

Roosevelt Works on Delayed NRA Message Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt pressed toward completion today his message to congress setting forth recommendations for the new NRA. He was hopeful but not certain of getting it to Capitol Hill late in the day.

Members of the Dixon park board are being urged to submit a project under the proposed federal relief program for the improvement of the Reynolds athletic field in the west end of the city, and it is expected that the members of the board will submit within a few days, a project which will provide for a notable improvement of this site, and if approved in Washington, would fill a long felt want in Dixon.

The project is for a $10,000 program of improvement of the athletic field site. This according to reports, would provide for a seating system costing about $3,000, fencing of the entire property at an estimated cost of about $2,000, and completion of the grading of the property, together with the seeding of about one-half the tract, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

Members of the park board stated that they had been urged to submit the project under the federal relief program, but are awaiting progress of the proposed relief bill in Washington at this time.

Two German Women Beheaded As Spies As Hitler Denies Mercy Plea

Berlin, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Two German women, Baroness Renate von Natzmer and Frau Benita von Falkenhayn, were beheaded today as spies.

They died on the block in Plötzensee prison in northwestern Berlin shortly before noon as the German government acted with varying sternness and in the utmost secrecy to smash espionage of Germany's military secrets.

The two women were accomplices of a Polish baron, Col. George Sosnowski, formerly of the Polish army.

Sosnowski himself was saved from execution by the intervention of the Polish ambassador and, although the reputed espionage leader, escaped with his life but under a sentence to life imprisonment.

Sentenced Saturday Also sentenced to life imprisonment was Fraulein Irena von Jena, a German.

The sentences were passed Saturday by the people's court, and the court's verdict was studied over the week-end by Reichsleiter Hitler himself, who is now in Munich.

Hitler ordered his legal experts, headed by Hans Frank, minister of justice, to consider all angles of the case before any decision as to possible clemency was taken. Finally, however, he signed the death warrant and the decapitations took place at once.

Dupes of Colonel The women implicated were said to have been dupes of Colonel Sosnowski in obtaining military information from various sources. Fraulein von Jena, for example, was the daughter of a German army general and a stenographer in the Reichwehr ministry.

Frau von Falkenhayn went to her death under the name of her first husband; she had been known in Berlin society by her second husband's name, von Berg.

The official communique told of the executions under the headline: "The National Socialist State Crushes Treason." The communique said:

"The German Reich's people's court, by verdict of Feb. 16, sentenced to death for betraying military secrets, Frau von Falkenhayn and Frau von Natzmer, both of Berlin."

"Furthermore, the Polish citizen George von Sosnowski, and Irena von Jena, were sentenced to life terms in the penitentiary on the same charge."

"The verdict of Frau von Falkenhayn and Frau von Natzmer was carried out after Der Fuehrer and Reich's Chancellor (Hitler) refused a pardon."

THE KEY-MAN

By Joseph Fort Newton

HERE'S a jigsaw puzzle, my dear; run along now and see if you can make it work," said a father to a restless little girl, thinking to amuse her and keep her busy while he read the paper.

On one side of the puzzle there was a map of the United States; on the other, the other a picture of Washington. The little girl, whose knowledge of geography was slight, was very quiet working hard.

Soon she had the puzzle assembled, and her father, aroused by her clamor of triumph, was astonished at the feat. "It's a hard puzzle," he said, looking into her bright eyes. "How did you do it so quickly?"

"Oh, that was easy," she replied, dancing for joy. "You see there is a picture of a man on the other side. All I had to do was to put the man together, and the United States came out all right."

Most of us are like that little girl. Our knowledge of our country is so slight to enable us to make it come out right; but if we put ourselves together the nation will come out all right in the end.

The key-man in the situation is myself, myself, each of us, every one of us. By making ourselves more self-reliant, more capable, more unselfish, more public-minded, we can help make a finer, happier nation.

All our confusion and agony can be traced back to the mismanagement, incompetence, folly, greed, or misbehavior of somebody. There was never a time when the burden resting on individual behavior was so great.

A chain is not stronger than its individual links. If the individual bricks in a wall crumble, the wall falls. A single jar in a symphony makes a discord and ruins or mars the music.

There is a short cut across out of our difficulties; no way out by mass-meetings and luncheons. No political sleight of hand can do the trick. Something more than a new gadget is needed.

It all comes back to quality, the character, the idealism, the practical capacity, and the moral worth of men and women. A nation can be no better, braver, or finer than the people who make it.

Mrs. Ethel Watson, the president, called the meeting to order. Routine business was transacted.

Tent No. 81 will present a silk flag to Miss Ella Kentner's room in the north side school Feb. 21st, at 1 o'clock. All daughters are invited to be present.

The following program was given at the meeting Thursday honoring Lincoln:

Story of Lincoln—Mrs. C. Etheridge.

St. Valentine's Day—Mrs. Addie Eastman.

Lincoln's Advice—Mrs. Laura Stauffer.

Wreath on Lincoln's Statue

On Feb. 12th, Tent No. 81, D. U. V., placed a wreath on Lincoln's statue in North Dixon, in honor of his birthday. The following program was given at the service:

Song, America—led by the Girl and Boy Scouts accompanied by the Junior Band led by Mr. Flamm.

Prayer by Rev. J. A. Barnett.

Mrs. Etheridge, Patriotic Instructor, placed the wreath at the feet of Lincoln as she repeated "Let us be just, like him."

One Civil War Veteran, John Brink, was present, and Mrs. F. C. Bennett, who is 83 years old, one of the few Civil War widows living in Dixon. This was a happy occasion for her, when her daughter, place the wreath at the feet of the Emancipator.

Next was a splendid address given by Harold G. Boltz, Scout Executive of Lee and Ogle counties, as he said in part—"Black Hawk Area Council, Daughters of Union Veterans, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and friends."

"We have met here today to pay tribute to the memory of one of the world's greatest statesmen, Abraham Lincoln. It is fitting that we should pause for a few moments at the feet of the nation's shrine—place a wreath to the memory of Lincoln, and say a few words of respect to the life of this great soul."

We are told by history, that it was a bitter cold day and that a cutting wind whistled about the corners of Thomas Lincoln's lowly one room cabin in the Kentucky snow found the cracks between the logs, and like white shadows left little pointed snow drifts inside, the day Lincoln was born.

"In the big, rough fireplace, burned a heavy log fire, yet in the corners of the room, it was bitter cold, that 12th of February, 1809. Such was the world into which had been born, Abraham Lincoln."

At the age of 19, he was a six foot, four inch giant—strong, alert and could throw anyone of his age or size. He was an expert axeman—could split rails, and handle his axe in a manner equal to that of the most seasoned veteran. Truly, Lincoln was an outdoor man.

"During the Blackhawk war of 1832, we find Lincoln, the soldier, and it was during his short service as a soldier that the famous Clary Grove gang (whose bully he had thrown, whipped) elected him captain of their volunteer company."

"Much of Lincoln's early life was spent in the university of hard knocks, but because of his persistence he came through victorious and won his way into people's confidence, and finally was nominated and elected to the presidency of the United States."

"He was immediately plunged into a sea of trouble, trouble with the South, trouble with England and other foreign nations; trouble with his generals, his cabinet officers, and trouble with an impatient public. But from Lincoln we have all learned a great lesson. He was the same—ever, human, and patient—trying to save life, and the Union."

"We, who are gathered here, today in memory of Lincoln, the 'Great Commoner,' using Lincoln's own words—'Can little note nor long remember what we do or say here, but we can never forget what he did here and throughout our broad country.'"

It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work for which he gave his life. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task before us and for which Lincoln so nobly fought, that our government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from this earth."

This program was brought to a close by singing The Star Spangled Banner, and God Be With You Till We Meet Again.

Benediction by Rev. A. B. Barnett.

All are very thankful to Miss Hardy and her Girl Scouts, about 85 in number.

Also many thanks to Harold Boltz and Boy Scouts about 40 in number.

The meeting closed by salute to the flag. The next meeting will be Thursday evening, Feb. 28, in G. A. R. hall.

Spanking Should be Last Resort

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Sometimes open clashes with small children may be avoided by substituting suggestion for a direct command.

We know that the pre-school age is a time of "the contrary."

Working Heiress Decides to Wed

Love has stepped in to change the plans for a career that Rosalind Kress, of Atlanta, southern chain store heiress, so fondly mapped out. So the girl who went to Broadway to be a booking agent now will be a bride. Miss Kress is shown here with her fiancé, C. Wesley Frame, at the party in the Stork Club, New York, at which their engagement was announced.

epoch due to development of will.

It is far better not to invite open defiance and ensuing arguments. Argument with any child at any age, by the way, is a poor thing.

Tiny children, with their inability to reason, always make us angry because they can't explain why they are naughty. An older child can explain his case and his reasons for disobedience. Explanation is not always argument. We should learn the difference.

But this matter of suggestion. Let us look into it. Suppose Bobby is lying on his back at the foot of his bed, at any time, where the draft and cold air hit him.

Silence is Effective Weapon

He knows you don't allow it, but some kind of notion has gotten into his small skull and all the talking and coaxing in the world can't change him.

The first thing to try is silence. Silence is such a wonderful thing. Always it is a wonder more of us don't try it.

This in itself may cure Bobby, because when we lose interest, he probably will lose it too. His little drama once deflated and "us" acting as though the show was no good may ring down the curtain on that act at last.

But Bobby may have another reason than just to get us going. If so he may continue the upside down business and catch more cold.

What does he like? Terribly? His Teddy Bear?

If Bobby is little enough and gullible enough, take Teddy and put him to bed reversed. The rest is up to your own imagination. Teddy can be fearfully angry. Do you think he wants to be sick and have a doctor and take castor oil?

Or a Story Might Work

He just isn't going to stand for that. Nor for a second. He's going to get into bed right or not at all. Or else Teddy can whisper to you that he feels terrible and please never put him to bed that way again.

With an older child, not so easily deceived, have Aunt Kitty or someone tell him a story about Timothy Tumbles who wouldn't mind his mama and insisted on sleeping upside down to the big, blue dragon fly came and sat on the window sill with his book and glasses and gave him an awful lecture. Incidentally the B. B. D. F. can remind Timothy that when his mother is polite enough to bake him such lovely cookies, he should be polite enough to keep that head on that pillow and stop his nonsense.

Goodness knows, we can't always go by the North Pole to get across the street, but it is astonishing how one learns short cuts in diplomacy.

If nothing else moves Bobby and pneumonia still steeps through the curtains a little suggestion by hand may stir his common sense, save his life and make him a nobler man. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

Golden Wedding Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hill

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hill, prosperous farmers east of the city, quietly observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home Sunday, Feb. 17th. They were married by the Rev. L. D. Lape of the Lutheran church in Dixon and have always lived in this community, where they are highly esteemed. Mrs. Hill being Miss Lottie Miller before her marriage.

Three sons were born to this worthy couple—Samuel J.; Lester A. and Lee, who is deceased. These children, with their families, including seven grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hill, called at their home in the afternoon and spent a few pleasant hours in their honor.

A number of appreciative gifts were given them, including golden flowers, a blooming plant and cards of congratulations.

Delicious refreshments, ice cream, cake and fruit were served—the cakes being beautiful in their gold and white trimmings, and were baked by the sons' wives. The afternoon was spent in pleasant reminiscing of events of their lives which happened in the past fifty years and on departing the company left wishes for other happy returns of the day (not golden, of course) but yearly for a goodly portion of time to come.

They are both in fairly good health for ones of their years and many friends of this community extend congratulations to this worthy couple at this time.

A. J. Halls, Palmyra, Happily Surprised By Eighty Guests

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hall of Palmyra were pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening by eighty friends and neighbors, who walked into their home unannounced. The party was in the nature of a farewell as well as a surprise and was planned by their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rutt and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Friedrichs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall are highly esteemed and respected residents of their community and their many friends and neighbors regret their anticipated departure, as they have recently purchased a farm near Fairmont, Minnesota, where they expect to make their home in the very near future.

Upon request Mr. Hall again gave his lecture on the "Holy Land," which was greatly enjoyed by all present. At an opportune time Mrs. Fred Friedrichs spoke of how the "Halls" had brightened the corner where they lived, and that when they were gone, they will be missed.

This she said, applied to both Mr. and Mrs. Hall for they were kind neighbors and in many instances had helped the sick and needy, and the loss to the community would be some one else's gain. She then presented them in behalf of the friends and neighbors assembled a beautiful set of silver ware, and wished them happiness and prosperity in their new home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hall responded with words of sincere appreciation and thanks for the gift and extended the invitation to all present to visit them in their new home near Fairmont.

At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, vowing it was an evening well spent.

Mrs. Frank Beede Hostess to Palmyra Mutual Aid Society

Mrs. Frank Beede most delightfully entertained 28 members, one visitor and three children of the Palmyra Mutual Aid society Wednesday, Feb. 13 at her home. She was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Arthur Dodd and Miss Avis Beede. At noon a most bounteous dinner was served on a beautifully decorated Valentine table. The afternoon was spent socially until the president called the meeting to order.

All joined in singing, "The church in the wilderness" after which the Twenty-third Psalm was repeated. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved. It was voted to hold the mid-winter picnic on the evening of Feb. 26 at the Sugar Grove church basement and the Nachusa League will present their play that evening. A small admission fee will be charged for the entertainment.

The ladies voted to serve the lunch at the Billin Bryan sale Friday, Feb. 22. Roll call and collection was taken and the afternoon games were conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Lila Hart, Mrs. Fred Gilbert and Mrs. Leo Ebert.

The contest, the meeting adjourned to meet again at the picnic and the next regular meeting date was set for March 13. Roll call will be answered by jokes. Upon departing all thanked the hostesses for a very happy day.

Honor Rochelle Couple on Golden Wedding Thursday

Rochelle—Mr. and Mrs. John Hacker were guests of honor at a dinner Thursday evening at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Emma Rodenius, in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

They had expected only members of the family at the dinner, but when they arrived at the Rodenius home, they found fifty of their friends and relatives waiting to greet them. After the dinner, the couple and their guests returned to the Hacker home where the Rev. O. H. Wadsworth, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiated at a service in which the couple's marriage vows were renewed.

The Hackers' two daughters, Mrs. Rodenius and Mrs. John Schabacker, of Fisher Minn., five grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren were present at the dinner.

Mr. Hacker, who was 73 years old on Jan. 9, was a city employee for thirty-four years, retiring only this winter. Mrs. Hacker will be 72 years old on Feb. 30. Both are in excellent health.

Fourth Annual Banquet for Twentieth Century Club Thurs.

The fourth annual banquet of the Twentieth Century Literary Club was held Thursday evening at the Misses Rice Tea Room, at which time the members entertained their husbands. There was present also the speaker of the evening, H. A. Hanson and his wife.

The decorations for the evening were very pretty in red and white, in the Valentine motif.

After the banquet the program for the evening was given. Robert Ball was toastmaster for the evening, presiding in a most efficient manner.

Mrs. Dale Cooper gave the first toast of the evening, "To the King of Hearts."

"To the Queen of Hearts," followed, given by E. B. Ryan.

"To the Knave of Hearts," Mrs. August Wumpeberg was given.

Dale Cooper then pleased all with two vocal solos, Mrs. Chas. Bishop accompanying him at the piano.

The address by Mr. Hanson on "White Ants," was much enjoyed.

After the address by Mr. Hanson, the company were invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sterling Stackhouse where the remainder of the evening was appropriately spent in playing hearts as it was Valentine day.

Those winning prizes were Mrs. Dale Cooper, first for the ladies; C. H. Sargent, high prize for the gentlemen; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ball won the consolation prizes. The entire evening was one of great enjoyment for all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Eckert delightfully entertained a number of relatives and friends at sumptuous dinner Sunday in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

The table was beautifully decorated in calendas, daffodils, ferns and yellow tapers. A large wedding cake with yellow frosting and fifty yellow candles graced the table.

The bride and groom of fifty years were married in Lancaster county, New York, in 1885 and

A ROMANTIC FOOTNOTE TO WAR'S MYSTERIES

History would be a great deal more interesting if we could get at its insignificant footnotes. It is forever hinting at absorbing little stories that would make much better reading than the really important things which get all the space—but in most cases it does no more than hint. The anecdotes and romances which would make history real to us get lost in the shuffle.

Here's a sample. A few days ago some relief workers were excavating Indian mounds on the edge of the famous battlefield of Shiloh, in Tennessee. They accidentally drove their picks into a grave in which had been buried nine unknown Union soldiers killed in that battle. And one of the skeletons turned out to be that of a girl!

Skeletons, of course, were about all that remained. Each was encased in the remnants of a blue uniform, clearly identifiable as such by the tarnished brass buttons. The girl had apparently been some 17 or 18 years of age. The Confederate bullet which killed her was found inside her skeleton.

And that's all there is to the story—just that tantalizing little fragment, which tells us almost nothing, but which sets the imagination to work frantically.

Where did this girl come from? How did she get there, on one of the bloodiest battle fields of all the bloody wars?

Was she one of those luckless girls who wish they were boys, and masquerade as boys whenever possible? If so, how did she get in the army, in view of the fact that Civil War recruits had to undergo physical examinations just as present-day soldiers do?

Or was she, perhaps, the sweetheart of one of the soldiers, who had obtained a uniform in some manner, disguised herself in it, crept into camp by some hook or crook to be near her lover, and had been caught with him when the unexpected swirl of battle broke over Grant's army?

Was he one of the eight who were buried with her? Or did they get separated in the heat of battle, so that he never knew what happened to her?

These are questions that cannot possibly be answered; but who can read the little story without wishing earnestly that they could be?

These relief workers dug up one of history's most fascinating fragments—but it can never be anything more than a fragment, a footnote to a tale of battle, hinting at much that we would like to see revealed.

The nine skeletons have been buried in a new grave in Shiloh Cemetery, now. The only marker is a tablet, inscribed "Nine Unknown Union Soldiers."

FOR FAIR COMPETITION

Joseph Eastman's program for rehabilitation of our railway system is a document deserving of the most extended study. It seems to cut a pretty carefully planned middle course between demands of the government-ownership group and proposals of those who would have the government interfere with the system as little as possible.

With at least one of his suggestions there will be wide agreement. He urges that all transportation systems—bus, truck, boat, pipeline, and possibly even airplane—be put under control of the Interstate Commerce Commission along with the railroads.

This would probably do as much to give the roads a better break in the matter of competition as any one step that could be taken.

For the rest, his program is the product of much study, and it sets forth the most clear-cut plan that has yet been offered for restoring our railroads to full economic health.

ALGER HERO IN LONDON

The old rags-to-riches story is generally looked upon on this side of the Atlantic—as a peculiarly American institution. We are so proud of the fact that our great leaders are usually men who came up from the bottom of the ladder, that we sometimes forget that similar opportunities are open in other lands.

When Sir Stephen Henry Molyneux Killik became lord mayor of London, a "typically American" success story reached its culmination. Sir Stephen was born a poor boy. At the age of 13 he went to work as a messenger boy at five shillings a week. He rose to become one of the empire's most influential business men and chief executive of the empire's greatest city.

All of this, of course, needn't detract from our pride in the traditional American equality of opportunity. But it is a good reminder that we have no monopoly on that virtue.

As Duncy took his sudden flop, the Tines let their fish poles drop and Scouty shouted, "Come on, lads! We'll have to pull him out. 'Is isn't very deep right here, but he'll be pretty scared, I fear. He's splashing now, and doesn't know what it is all about."

"There is no real cause for alarm, if I can grab hold of his arm. Now, when I do, the rest of you hang on to me real tight."

"Then I will pull him in to shore and he'll be safe and sound once more. If you do as I say, the whole thing will work out all right!"

Just then, however, Duncy rose and loudly shouted, "Goodness knows, that surely was a clumsy fall. I hooked myself, I guess. 'You bet you did,' yelled Windy. 'Gee it was a funny sight to see. You tried to throw your line and got into an awful mess! 'Give us your hand! We'll pull you out. We'll have to build a fire."

no doubt, to dry your clothes. Then you had better take a little rest. 'The rest of us will gladly do the fishing, 'cause we don't trust you. You couldn't catch a single fish, although you 'ried your best!'"

"Oh, couldn't I?" snapped Duncy. "Wait, and you'll admit that I am great. I've found a better way to catch big fish, than on a line."

Then he reached down and pulled right out a fish that made the Tines shout, "This really is a monster. Duncy said, 'and it's all mine."

"When I flopped down, I hit this fish. What more could anybody wish? I guess I stunned him pretty badly, 'cause he stayed real still. 'At me, no more, need you tots rave. Now we can have the meal we crave. If Mister Farmer cooks this fish I'm sure 'twill be a thrill!"

HAUPTMANN TO PRISON!

Bound For Death House -- Doomed Man Starts Final Journey

With the Trenton prison death house his destination Richard Bruno Hauptmann showed little sign of concern as he left the jail at Flemington, N. J., under heavy escort of troopers and prison officials. With a wan smile on his face, and in his familiar dark gray suit, the doomed prisoner is shown here on the step, manacled between Lieut. Allen Smith, left, and Sheriff John H. Curtiss, right. Standing back of Hauptmann and Curtiss is Warden Harry M. McCrea of Hunterdon county jail.

DAILY HEALTH

FOOD VALUE OF BEER

While dependable statistics on the consumption of beer are not at hand, there are many indications available which show that this most ancient of the fermented beverages is recapturing its important place in the American dietary.

The history of beer reaches back to the most ancient of historic times. In its long development this unique beverage has undergone a great deal of refinement, so that today the manufacture of beer is a highly complicated, technical and chemical process.

Beer is naturally thought of as a

"I'm glad to be on my way!" Thus did Bruno Richard Hauptmann say goodbye to Flemington, N. J., scene of his trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, when, as shown here, he was driven away to Trenton prison under sentence to die during the week of March 13. Hauptmann sat manacled to Lieut. Allen Smith of the New Jersey state police, left. At his other side sat Warden Harry M. McCrea of Hunterdon county jail.

WEAK WOMEN

MANY women of both young and middle-aged suffer from periodic pains in side or back—from headache, "heat flashes," they should take that vegetable tonic favorably known for sixty years as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read this: Mrs. Helen Ruth Ward, 709 10th Ave., S. W., Canton, Ohio, said: "I felt weak and sick all over, I couldn't sleep or eat. My stomach felt upset all the time, and I had dizzy headaches. A friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. One bottle made me feel so different, I gained in weight, and my appetite improved."

It has been estimated that the average speed of automobiles on the open road is 41.2 miles an hour.

Tomorrow—Industrial Dermatitis.

Whatever be the reason or excuse for drinking beer, one should bear in mind, particularly if one's weight is to be watched, that beer has a definite food value, that it is 'food' as well as drink.

Advantage is taken of this "fattening" property of beer by using it as a supplement in the diet of the undernourished. For this purpose light beers are usually preferred, though, of course, choice must depend on the individual's taste.

Leprosy is disappearing among white people, but not among other races, there being, for example, at least 200,000 cases among Chinese and Japanese in the Philippines today.

BELVIDERE IS
DIXON TEAMS'
LEADING FOEMost Attractive of Six Games This Coming Week

Dixon's basketball menu is more appetizing than ever this week. Many savory dishes will be offered game-hungry enthusiasts.

Coach L. E. Sharpe's Purple and White Dixon high school teams, staging another comeback in the N. C. I. Conference, will brighten the home floor slate by entertaining Belvidere Friday night. Belvidere gave the locals a mild case of apoplexy when Dixon invaded the Gold's lair in January. At that time Belvidere led the Sharpshooters by over fifteen points with only six or eight minutes of the game remaining, before Dixon launched an amazing rally that won for them the contest. Satiated by revenge over Sterling Township last Friday the Sharpshooters are ready to play hosts to Belvidere.

In independent circles the climax of the second round, Commercial League, resolves itself into the Knacks-Beiers meeting. The Beiers scalped a helpless Dixon State Hospital five to 12 last Tuesday but will find the Knacks equal to a similar ordeal this week. Thrust unexpectedly into second place by Ashton the Blues are not in an amiable mood. Ashton's surprising team is hoping to exact another pound of flesh from the I. N. U.

I. N. U. Goes to Amboy
Wednesday's bill of fare sends the I. N. U. to Amboy for a return contest with the Legionnaires. The latter acquitted themselves very well on the Dixon State Hospital court Thursday against the Utilities boys.

The Dixon State Hospital Yellowjackets will entertain Lee Center again Thursday night, and do not propose to be the victims of another record score. The first time these teams clashed Lee Center won 5 to 0, the only whitewash of the 1934-35 basketball season.

The schedule:
Tuesday
Ashton vs. I. N. U.
Knacks vs. Beiers.
Wednesday
I. N. U. at Amboy.
Thursday
Lee Center at Dixon State Hospital.
Friday
Belvidere at Dixon (two games).

Campbell 'Tries His Wings' at 200-Mile Clip

Roaring by at more than 200 miles an hour, Sir Malcolm Campbell's big racing car "Bluebird," with the English speed demon at the wheel, is seen here in a trial spin on the smooth sands of Daytona Beach, Fla. His motor tuned to perfection, Campbell awaited only a glass-smooth beach before attempting to shatter his own world record of 272 miles an hour. He believes his "Bluebird" can be pressed to more than 300 miles an hour.

Shift Commercial Loop
Standings Tuesday EveAshton Collides With
I. N. U. For Third
Position

Second round play in the Commercial basketball loops comes to a head tomorrow night with the collision of the league-leading Beiers Loafers and their closest challengers the vengeful Knacks Leaders in a joint observance of Knacks-Beiers Night.

The Knacks are resting uncomfortably in second place following an unexpected defeat at the hands of the Ashton Blacks a week ago. Up to that time they were tied with the rampaging Loafers who took advantage of the Knacks' defensiveness to blast the State Hospital team 60 to 12 in moving up to the top of the heap.

I. N. U. Practices
The I. N. U. engaged Amboy last Thursday in an effort to halt their declining fortunes in the league. They hoped the engagement will serve them profitably Tuesday. In that contest the Utilities team turned in a 26-15 triumph and following their struggle against Ashton in the circuit, they will journey to Amboy for a return game, Wednesday. Both Ashton and the I. N. U. quints hold a 500 percentage with four wins and four losses each. Their clash means a shifting of the standing once more.

Manager Clayton Kesselring's Dixon State Hospital team prosecute in the dungeon with one victory out of eight starts, recovered some of their self-respect against the Patients Thursday when they won 36 to 15. If Mansfield and Fitzpatrick are able to play a week, hence the Hospital team may pull a few surprises out of the bag. Fitzpatrick has been out of competition for three weeks because of an injured arm. Last Tuesday, Mansfield was on the injured list.

Following are the standings:

Must Aim for Opening
Straight ahead, three quarters of a mile away, an amusement park arches across the course. He steps the car, aims it for an opening 32 feet wide. It doesn't look like enough from here to slide an arm through.

"That's the first target," says Sir Malcolm. "By the time I reach it I am in second gear and hope to be doing about 80. This part of it merely gives me a chance to get the motor revving up a bit and the car rolling."

You whistle through the opening wide enough, but no place for a nervous man with a wheel in his hand and a flying car under him. Sir Malcolm told officials here not to bother widening it.

"One gets used in racing to putting a car where it belongs," he smiles.

As the car shoots out from under the pier, nearing the end of the first mile of the course, the bear curves. Sir Malcolm must make a most a half right turn there to set the straightaway on the long run. It is the first major problem of the test, but he doesn't consider it of great importance. He's never had trouble there.

"Here we must be careful not to accelerate too fast," he says, "or the tires will spin and tear the rubber off. We should be up to

TESTS COURSE
FOR SPEEDINGHe Takes Short Trial Run
on Daytona Beach
Sands Speedway

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 18 — (AP)—Preverse nature had so contrived things today that Sir Malcolm Campbell had just about decided it might be March before conditions on Daytona's sands allow him to shoot for the world's automobile speed record with old lady Bluebird.

Two days of rain squalls, and a wind that persisted in blowing from the land out to sea, messed the 11 1/2 mile stretch by the edge of the water as it hasn't been messed since the titled Englishman arrived here two weeks ago for the assault on the 272.108 mile per hour mark he set in 1933.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 18 — (AP)—There isn't room in Old Lady Bluebird for the mechanical madman, for passengers, which probably is just as well for all concerned, but you can ride the sands of Daytona with Sir Malcolm Campbell fast enough to get a faint pink picture of the crimson glow of a real record run.

He's driving his own passenger car, a big Lincoln sedan, and he wheels you down onto the 11 1/2 mile beach, a golden track in the sunlight, stretching straight along the sea as far as the eye can reach. The tide is out, and the ocean is calm and blue on one side the sand dunes white, rolling, and treacherous on the other.

"Well go over the full course," says the titled Englishman. "It is still a bit rough. It is not ready yet for record speeds."

He drives to a point where, within the next few days, he hopes to launch the huge blue charger against the record of 272.108 miles an hour he set here two years ago. The car faces down the long, gleaming way, patches of cloud shadows accentuating the brilliance with drifting blot, the deadly recording sand, the soft slippery kind, showing duly in patches here and there.

about 175 by the end of the second mile.

When did his foot go to the floor-board of the 2,500 horsepower monster?

Open Throttle
"By the end of the second mile," he says, "One must keep the throttle wide open all the way if one wants to travel fast."

The passenger car is beginning to feel as though some of the Bluebird's blood ran in its veins. The car flies smoothly over the cement-like floor, but taking a few little bumps at which Sir Malcolm shakes his head.

"Those are magnified intensely," he says "in a record car."

You're in the fourth mile. The sedan speedometer says "80."

"About here," says Sir Malcolm "Bluebird slipped out of gear in a trial in 1931, but she stayed under control nicely."

Coming through the fifth mile, the one before the "measured mile" where the records are made, he nodded his head toward the dunes to the right.

"I got in the soft sand there in 1928," he said. "It was touch and go for a moment. I was almost thrown out of the car. Bill Sturm was standing there, and he said I was almost flung out of the bonnet."

The car sailed through the measured mile. The needle of the sedan speedometer quivered at 88. Then he slowed down, turned and came back.

"You see?" he said. "It is not so very exciting, is it?"

DIXON EKES OUT
CLOSE TRIUMPH
OVER MT. MORRISHeavies Win 23-22; Light
Weights Too,
29-13

BY ROBBIN

After trailing for three quarters, Dixon heavies came from behind to win 23-22 from Mt. Morris Saturday. Underwood sank the winning goal after receiving a perfect pass from Planagan over half the length of the floor. Dixon lights added another victory to their long undefeated list, taking the Mt. Morris reserves 29-13.

Both Dixon teams were seemingly dead on their feet, they could not get going or start a scoring drive until the last quarters of each of their games. Mt. Morris led 16-15 at the end of the third quarter of the major contest. Double action for over this week-end and questionable decision rendered by the refs, were termed the causes of this unexpected slowing down of what might have been a good game. Mt. Morris had a five point edge with approximately five minutes left to play, all at once something happened to the Sharpshooters, they came to life and "Pony Boy" Underwood began to swish them from all over the court. Fane "planted" one on Kimmel in the last thirty seconds of play. The ref gave him two shots. Mt. Morris was trailing by two points 23-21, first shot fell through the rim touching only the bottom of the hoop, his second gift toss was muffed up purposely, trusting to luck that one of his tall running mates could snare a field goal on a follow in. Rebuck jumped into the picture at this moment, he grabbed the ball and proceeded to hang onto it until one of his teammates were in the clear. At this stage Underwood was open on the far side of the court. Rebuck passed to Planagan and Red to Pony who dribbled in for another set-up, the game ended before Underwood shot. This last basket did not count.

Kimmel was high point man for Mt. Morris with three baskets and three gift tosses. Underwood collected fourteen points for the Sharpshooters.

Greatly surprised were group of five cagemen who represent a team of championship caliber in the lighter divisions. Mt. Morris was playing in their own gym before their own following, regardless of how hard the purple and white lights tried to make points there was always something that stood between them and the right end of the hoop. Their center, Gene Tilton, developed a case of measles over night and the mainstay of their scoring power. Al Boyd, was put out of the game with four personal fouls against him. The fourth stanza found a frenzied bunch of lightweights wondering what was the next best move. In that last period they scored enough points to equal the whole Mt. Morris total, and any other two periods scores of their own put to rest.

TROOP 110 SENT MANY KINDS OF WOOD TO SHOW

Thirty-Seven Wood Varieties Were Exhibited

PRESS CLUB ITEMS

Troop 110, Franklin Grove, By Robert Holley

Scouts met at the high school, Thursday evening, and after cutting up wood slabs for the sides of their booth, hauled these to Dixon for the Merit Badge exposition. Over 37 different varieties of wood were secured along Franklin Creek for the exhibit in forestry, which was for Troop 110, a red ribbon, presented at the Court of Honor in the evening. The Court of Honor followed a humorous program of entertainment and talent, participated in by most of the troops at the exposition.

Troop 72, Dixon

By Miles Loefergan

Troop 72 entered two booths in the Merit Badge exposition Saturday. One was a carpentry booth, and the prizes. The carpentry booth had a set of tools and woodwork. The photography booth had a movie every half hour which was enjoyed by a large crowd. It took a lot of work but it certainly was worth the time. From now on, our troop is concentrating on advancement.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 17.

The Golden Text was, "Set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord your God" (1 Chronicles 22:19).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God. For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly" (Psalms 84:2, 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The identity, or idea, of all reality continues forever; but Spirit, or the divine Principle of all, is not in Spirit's formations. Soul is synonymous with Spirit, God, the creative, governing, Infinite Principle outside of finite form, which forms only reflect" (p. 71).
